POWER OF THE SWORD: THE DESTRUCTION (PAPERBACK)

Createspace, United States, 2013. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Power of the Sword: The Destruction is one of a five-book series that grapples with the paradox of the Roman Empire, which was both highly civilized and barbaric. My books look at the people of the Empire within their own culture, their own values, their own world. I place heavy reliance on the writings of Flavius Josephus, who is an important character in my novel. A Jewish priest, he was a witness to the destruction of Jerusalem and the Temple in 70 A.D. And nearly all we know about Israel's uprising against Rome comes from Josephus. At the siege of Jerusalem, he is torn in many directions. A priest, of the first of the 24 courses of priests, he loves the Temple and is sworn to defend it. But he is with the Roman army that is setting out to destroy it. He gropes for some way to understand his tradition, his faith, and the destiny of his people in light of what he knows to be the unstoppable force of Rome. As he stands before the walls of the city urging capitulation -- recalling the Prophet Jeremiah -- the Zealots try to kill him. Another focus character in my novel is Spurius Pontius Paulus (Pow-lus) Pilatus, a grandson of Pontius Pilate. He is a young (b. 45 A.D.) narrow-stripe tribune in the Army of Judea. Well-connected; his father went to school with Vespasian. Paulus is bright, very brave, and a believer in the Empire. This fictional narrow-striper must be the kind of man who would live the life I give him. So when ordered to throw captive men, women and children off a cliff, he does...
